
Newburgh and Fishkill, a photographic essay

by Patricia Beringer and Howard Dratch

Main Street, Fishkill, NY

Trinity Episcopal Church, Fishkill, NY, organized by the Rev. Samuel Seabury in 1756. The Provincial Congress met here in September 1776, and the church was used as a hospital during the Revolutionary War.

Episcopal Church, Fishkill, NY

Andrew Jackson Downing house detail. Newburgh, NY

House designed by Andrew Jackson Downing c.1854, Newburgh, NY; in front is Brutus H. Hodge, the current owner.

Railroad station, Newburgh, NY

Newburgh, NY

Decayed smokestack, Newburgh, NY

Original Newburgh Steam Mills, now the Regal Bag Corporation, looking northeast from Water Street. The steam mills, built 1844, helped initiate Newburgh's transformation from a mercantile town to a small manufacturing city.

Verplanck farmhouse 18th c. at Stonykill Farm, Wappingers, NY

Northern addition, construction ca. 1890, to the Whitehill Engine and Pictet Ice Machine Company, opposite Washington's Headquarters.

19th c. factory, Newburgh, NY

Wall detail 19th c. factory, Newburgh, NY

*Cobblestone street detail,
Newburgh, NY*

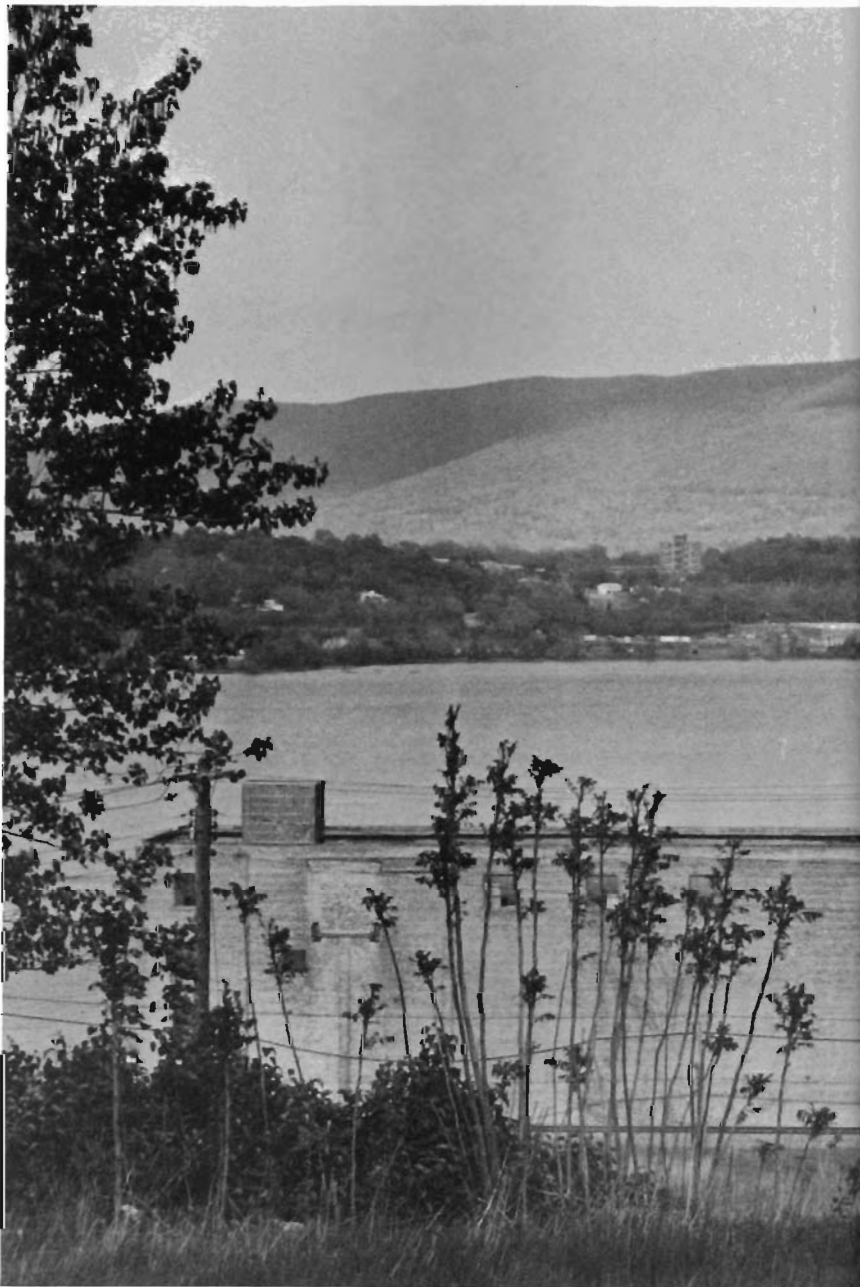

Cobblestones, Newburgh, NY

*Wall detail 19th c. factory,
Newburgh, NY*

Brick detail 19th c. factory, Newburgh, NY

View from Newburgh to Beacon, New York

