Teaching American History Grant: Learning Experience 2008-2009

Art Schouten & Jaclyn Salomon

Topic Title: Assessing Leadership Qualities

Grade Level: 9-12/Alternative Education

Overview of the Learning Experience:

- The concept behind this lesson allowed the teachers to incorporate U.S. political history, current events, and global politics into a single unit by assessing specific characteristics that one would look for in a leader.

- The lesson is constructed around the theme of president leaders, specifically George Washington and George Bush as they are the first and most current president as well as the most notable presidents among the student body.

- After reviewing the PowerPoint Presentation, George vs. George, students will have the opportunity to develop resumes for the current president candidates or other leaders in which they will assess who is the more qualified leader. This outline can then be utilized to assess other leaders within U.S. History as well as Global History.

New York State Learning Standards:

Standard 1: Use a variety of intellectual skills to demonstrate their understanding of major ideas, eras, themes, developments, and turning points in the history of the United States and New York.

  ▪ Understand how different experiences, beliefs, values, traditions, and motives cause individuals and groups to interpret historic events and issues from different perspectives

Standard 2: Use a variety of intellectual skills to demonstrate their understanding of major ideas, eras, themes, developments, and turning points in world history and examine the broad sweep of history from a variety of perspectives.

  ▪ Investigate the roles and contributions of individuals and groups in relation to key social, political, cultural, and religious practices throughout world history

Standard 5: Use a variety of intellectual skills to demonstrate their understanding of the necessity for establishing governments; the governmental system of the U.S. and other nations; the U.S. Constitution; the basic civic values of American constitutional democracy; and the roles, rights, and responsibilities of citizenship, including avenues of participation.
- Analyze the sources of a nation’s values as embodied in its constitution, statutes, and important court cases.
- Compare and contrast the development and evolution of the constitutions of the United States and New York State.

Essential Question(s):

- What characteristics should one look for in a leader?
- What makes an effective leader?

Time Allotment (classroom time):

Day One:

- Outline and address characteristics that make an effect leader.
- PowerPoint Presentation: George vs. George.
- Complete Discussion Questions that correlate with George vs. George.

Day Two:

- George vs. George – Leadership Characteristic Scorecards.
- Preview and assess 30-second campaign ads.

Day Three:

- 30-Second Campaign Ad development.

Day Four:

- Students will present their campaigns to the class.
- Presentation review and discussion.

Please note: This project was designed for an alternative setting with extensive block scheduling and limited access to the internet. Students may need additional time to complete these assignments depending on their class schedules.

Vocabulary (key terms):

- Veto
- Precedence
- Cabinet
- Habeas Corpus
- Fort Necessity
- The Battle of Trenton/Princeton
- Newburgh Conspiracy
- Creation of the National Bank
• Whiskey Rebellion
• U.S. Patriot Act (2001)
• No Child Left Behind Act (2002)
• Homeland Security Act (2002)
• Stem Cell Research (2007)
• State Children’s Health Insurance Program (2007)
• Executive Order 13233

Materials/Resources:

• Vocabulary Worksheet
• U.S. History Textbook – for vocabulary purposes
• PowerPoint Presentation: George vs. George
  Additional primary/secondary resources provided throughout the presentation.
  All materials are documented and sources are provided in said presentation.
• Directed Discussion Questions for George vs. George
  Separate worksheets based upon student needs/abilities.
• Leadership Characteristics Scorecard Worksheet
• 30-Second Campaign Ads: http://www.livingroomcandidate.org
• 30-Second Campaign Ads – Assessment Questions
• Suggested terms for 30-second campaign ads
• Computers with PowerPoint, Movie Maker, Garage Band, iMovie, or related software program that students can utilize to create presentations.

Procedure:

Day One:
• As a class or in small groups, students will begin to outline and address those characteristics that make an effective leader.
• Once completed, the class should have a list of no less than 5 characteristics that they believe would make an effective leader with explanations for each.
  Characteristics may include, but not be limited to:
    • Positive Attitude
    • Honest
    • Educated
    • Open Minded
    • Ambitious
    • Truthful
• Once they have developed a list of essential qualities that they would look for, the class will individually review the PowerPoint Presentation/Webquest, George vs. George.
• Students will be required to complete the Scorecard (see attached) while reviewing the political resumes of both George Washington and George Bush.
• Depending on classroom structure/level, the class will have directed discussion questions (see attached) that coincide with the presentation as well.
Day Two:
- Students will continue to assess the PowerPoint, George vs. George, while completing their discussion questions and scorecards.
- Students will also review several 30-second campaign ads from previous U.S. political elections on the website http://www.livingroomcandidate.org.
- They will use the skills developed during the review of George vs. George while reviewing at least FOUR campaign ads from separate political elections.
- Students will be responsible for completing assessments of each of the FOUR campaigns that they watch.

Day Three:
- In small groups, students will then research/review materials and create 30-second campaigns for either John McCain or Barack Obama. Teachers may choose to substitute other leaders as it relates to their course at the time.
- Students will have the opportunity to review and use the materials found at, but not limited to http://www.4president.org to gather materials for their campaigns. Teachers may also choose to http://www.livingroomcandidate.org or individual campaign websites for particular candidates.
- Students may use whichever software program is available to them and/or they are most comfortable using. This may include PowerPoint, Movie Maker, Garage Band, iMovie, etc.

Day Four:
- Students will present their campaigns to the class.
- Students will discuss what characteristics they chose to focus on for their presentations and why.
- The class will also discuss which presentations they found most effective and what qualities/characteristics lead them to this conclusion.

Assessment:

Assessments will combine all facets of the lesson including:

- Vocabulary Worksheet
- Guided Discussion Questions
- Leadership Characteristics Scorecard
- 30-Second Campaign Ad Assessment Worksheet(s)

Students will also be responsible for the completion of their own 30-Second Campaign Ad. A rubric has been included to assess this task.
